Queen Takes Off On Canada Trip

LONDON (CP)—Queen Elizabeth took off at 11:10 p.m. (PST) last night aboard a British Overseas Airways Corporation plane for her four-day visit to Canada. The Queen, accompanied by Prince Philip, was scheduled to arrive at Ottawa's Uplands airport at 12:25 p.m. (PST) today.

OTTAWA (CP)—Queen Elizabeth cabled Prime Minister Diefenbaker saying she and Prince Philip are looking forward "so much" to their Ottawa visit. Replying to Mr. Diefenbaker's wishes for a "bon voyage" to the royal couple the Queen said today:

"I send you my very warm thanks for your message of welcome to Canada. My husband and I are looking forward so much to our arrival at Ottawa."

Pakistan Leader Resigns

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—Prime Minister H. S. Suhrawardy resigned Friday in an internal political crisis but his departure is not expected to change the nation's pro-West foreign policy.

Suhrawardy, prime minister for 13 months, tendered his resignation after President Iskander Mirza refused his request for a special parliamentary session at which the prime minister could seek a vote of confidence following the defection of the 26 Republican party members of the governing coalition.

After he quit, Suhrawardy's Awami League supporters put on a protest march charging he was forced out. Police put down the demonstration with clubs and were reported to have injured about a dozen marchers.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prince Philip is to wear a rear-admiral's naval uniform, with the order of the garter with blue sash and star and his service medals, at the opening of Parliament Monday.

He is expected to wear the same uniform at the wreath-laying ceremony at the national war memorial Sunday. At the state dinner Monday night he is to wear white tie and decorations.

The Queen's choice of clothes is a closely guarded secret.

LONDON (BUP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip received a sherry party send-off for their North American tour almost eight hours before they actually left.

A select group of persons, who would normally be at the airport to see the Queen away on her trip to North America, were the Queen's guests at Buckingham Palace for the party.

The group included British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, his wife, Canadian high commissioner George Drew and his wife.

At the airport, only Harold Macmillan, minister of transport and civil aviation, airport and airline officials, were present.

Prior to the formal departure ceremony, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret drove to the airport for dinner with the Queen and the Prince.

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Lester B. Pearson said Friday night the Queen's United States itinerary "would lay Superman's trail."

NEW YORK (UP)—Queen Elizabeth will occupy the Waldorf Astoria hotel suite in which the Duke and Duchess of Windsor usually live when they are in New York.

AUBREY SIMMONS
... election

Irregular Votes 'Unseat' Liberal

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—The election of Liberal Aubrey Simmons to the House of Commons last June was declared void Friday by two judges who found there had been irregularities in the voting.

The ruling does not prevent him from taking his seat at the opening of Parliament Monday. Officials in Ottawa said the seat cannot be declared vacant or a date for a byelection set until the Speaker of the Commons receives formal notification of the judgment and issues a warrant declaring the vacancy.

Mr. Simmons also may appeal the judgment to the Supreme Court of Canada, in which case he could retain his seat until the higher court handed down its ruling.

Ice Promised for Monday

Hasty Inquest on Arena Floor Brings Curtain Clanging Down

Will It Hold Out? Nobody Can Tell

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Memorial Arena commissioners yesterday dropped an iron curtain over a hurriedly called inquest into the condition of the arena's patched floor.

Following the meeting, Victoria Cougars' coach Colin Kilburn at Nanaimo received a telephone message from arena manager Joe Dukowski that ice would be ready for Monday's opening game in the Western Hockey League series.

Special meeting of commissioners was held at 4:30 p.m. yesterday behind closed doors. Present were chairman Forrest L. Shaw, City Manager C. C. Wyatt, Victoria and Island Publicity director George I. Warren, former city alderman F. G. Mulliner, City Engineer J. C. Garnett and Mr. Dutkowski.

Mr. Dukowski, arena engineer Tony Stonehouse and two workmen began mixing calcium chloride and water at about 9:30 p.m. last night to prepare the brine to freeze the floor.

FREEZING TONIGHT

The brine will take about 20 hours to cool sufficiently to be circulated through the pipes set in the arena floor. Refrigeration of the floor will probably begin about 9 tonight.

Following yesterday's meeting Mr. Shaw said it had been called to discuss the condition of the floor. "We wanted to get all the circumstances," he said. "The brine will be mixed tonight (Friday) and then we are going right ahead with freezing the ice."

NONCOMMITTAL

Mr. Shaw refused to commit himself when asked if he thought the floor would hold up through the season.

"You can't tell that," he said. "Nobody can. I am not going to predict that. If you mend a pipe today it may break out somewhere else tomorrow."

He said the meeting was called to discuss whether there was sufficient time to prepare ice for Monday's hockey game.

WON'T SAY

Mr. Garnett refused to say whether leaks being repaired late yesterday afternoon were new ones developed over Thursday night. Wednesday he had said he expected repairs to the floor would be completed by Thursday night.

Dr. A. N. Reid, president of the Cougars, said last night the club was operating on the assurance that ice would be ready by 2 p.m. Monday, when the Cougars are scheduled to meet New Westminster Royals in the first game of the hockey season.

NO WORRY

And an official of Victoria Curling Club said last night the club had no worries about suitable ice being available for the Macdonald Brier, to open March 3, as part of the centennial celebrations.

Max Zabel, vice-chairman of the club's Brier committee, said Mayor Percy Scourrah had assured him ice would be available for the Canada-wide championship even if a temporary floor had to be laid over the present one.

"We have no worries at all," he said. "If this present set-up does not stand up we will have an auxiliary floor in a very short time."

JUST TOO BAD

If a leak does occur on a sheet, that section of the ice will have to be abandoned, he added. "It would just be too bad if something did happen to the Brier, both for the city and the arena."

"They have a beautiful building and a beautiful setting. The only trouble with it is the floor," he said.

Lord Hailsham

'A Tory With Fire In Belly'

BRIGHTON, England (CP)—A London newspaper Friday published a description of Lord Hailsham, chairman of the Conservative party, as a "Tory with fire in his belly."

But Friday night, after the second straight day of generally dull and placid debate at the party's annual conference, some political observers wondered if even Hailsham's bubbling enthusiasm can light a fire under the party.

Some 40,000 delegates heard six senior ministers outline government policies covering foreign affairs, Commonwealth and European trade, transportation and communications, industrial relations and pensions and health services.

Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd received warm applause for his review of the international situation.

Sooke Basin Fire Quelled

SOOKE—A small forest fire on the south side of the Sooke basin was fought and brought under control by several residents in the area last night.

The fire, covering about half an acre, started when a burning stump got out of control and spread uphill into brush and timber up from the waterfront area.

Bargaining Rights

Get Tough! B.C. Servants Tell Chiefs

KELOWNA (CP)—British Columbia civil servants Friday instructed their leaders to pursue "by militant action, if necessary," their objectives in the matter of bargaining rights.

Arbitration and collective bargaining was the main issue on the opening day of the two-day annual convention here of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, representing 12,000 members.

More than 90 minutes was taken up by the 100 or so delegates with the "militant action" clause before the resolution embodying it was adopted, almost unanimously.

SEVEN OBJECTIVES

By the resolution the BCGEA reaffirmed its seven objectives relative to collective bargaining, as set forth by the association before Chief Justice Sloan.

Chief Justice Sloan was appointed a one-man board of reference by order-in-council last July on the eve of a strike deadline set by the association. A walkout was avoided.

An accusation that the government, and particularly Attorney-General Robert Bonner, had stalled in negotiations with the association, was repeated Friday when general secretary E. P. O'Connor reviewed events since July.

The association's objectives as reaffirmed in convention are:

- 1 Establishment of an appropriate relationship between employer and employee.
- 2 The right to freedom of association.
- 3 The right to bargain collectively through the medium of any society of workers organized for the purpose, provided such organization represents the majority of employees concerned.
- 4 The right to bargain collectively with the employer pursuant to a regulated procedure which would provide for negotiations with the employer or his duly appointed representative.
- 5 Establishment of an appropriate instrument covering all conditions of employment, including superannuation.
- 6 Provision at will for either party to give appropriate notice two months prior to the termination of any term certain, setting forth proposed changes in existing conditions of employment, including superannuation matters.

To Address Queen

Michener Certain Speaker

OTTAWA (CP)—It is now virtually certain that Roland Michener, 57-year-old Toronto lawyer and business executive, will be the first Canadian Commons Speaker ever to address the sovereign at the opening of this country's Parliament.

His speech, with historical overtones from the long gone days of conflict between the British Parliament and the Stuart kings, will assert the traditional Commons claim to free speech and other privileges.

While only the Commons can name a Speaker, Mr. Michener has been acting unofficially for several weeks in this office guiding arrangements for the opening of Parliament Monday by Queen Elizabeth. He also has been assigned to a Commons seat traditionally reserved for the Speaker.

THE best way to succeed as a news commentator is to wait 100 years before you say anything.

On the day that the Russians launched their satellite, the wires were crowded with messages of congratulation from American scientists.

bursting into print at once with some light-hearted remarks about the sporting

Made Me a Liar

Before those words had time to get wrapped around a fillet of cod, or kindle a fire, some other scientists had made a liar out of me. That is fast work, because some housewives have their newspapers delivered direct to the furnace-room, and apply a match to it as they take it from the carrier's hand.

The original burst of polite applause was quickly drowned

A Shoddy Article

They said that the tin baseball in the sky was a shoddy article held together at the seams with glue and baling wire. America could have hoisted a better satellite in half the time, if someone hadn't blundered.

I can't remember the precise details, but it seems to me that the army blamed the navy, the navy blamed the FBI and the FBI blamed the Texas Rangers, who in turn said the whole thing was the fault of the women's auxiliary to the Coast Guard.

way the Americans had taken it, and hinted that there was some hope of scientists as well as humans becoming a world community. Perhaps scientists would come to fellow scientists even if war should break out, I suggested.

Perhaps if the scientists had been left to themselves, they would have been content to praise the Russian achievement, and quietly set to work improving on it.

But the politicians sprang into action, closely followed by generals, admirals and a miscellaneous rabble of patriots, all of them entering the fray with their mouths open.

Neutrality 'Unthinkable'

U.K. Won't Be Buffer Between U.S., Russia

BRIGHTON, Eng. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Lloyd yesterday rejected Labor party demands that Britain act as a "third force" intermediary between the United States and Russia.

Red Policy Still Revolt

Lloyd told the annual conference of the Conservative party that "we cannot be neutral" in the struggle between the "human values as the Communists see them and our Western systems, whatever their imperfections."

"Neutrality is unthinkable," he declared.

"It would be playing into the hands of the Communists to let it be thought that in this conflict we were casting ourselves for the role of a neutral."

The foreign secretary charged that world revolution is still the Kremlin's fundamental policy. He accused the Soviet regime of duplicity in submitting UN resolutions calling for non-interference in the affairs of other nations while at the same time trying to subvert other governments, particularly in the Middle East.

STRANGE BLEND

Too often, Lloyd said, "Soviet policy has appeared to be Communist imperialism—a horse of strange parentage, by Karl Marx-out-of-Catherine-the-Great—the expansionist ideas of the old Russian imperialism combined with the missionary zeal of international Communism."

Because direct military attack now is risky business, Lloyd continued, the approved Kremlin pattern "is to infiltrate, to subvert, to encourage revolt against authority, to install a pro-Soviet regime. The end is

$133,890 Contract Awarded For Marigold Elementary

Work is expected to start immediately on the new Marigold Elementary School at the intersection of Burnside and Acorn. Howe and Wilson Construction of Victoria were awarded the contract for the six-room school as lowest of five bidders. Contract was awarded for $133,890.

The school was originally contained in the 1954 school referendum and was carried over with additional money provided in the referendum passed last March.

Additions to Frank Hobbs School will also begin soon and tenders for the six-room addition to Lansdowne Junior High School will close Thursday, the school board announced yesterday.

Two prominent painters and a noted English art critic will give a total of seven lectures at the Art Gallery in the next few weeks.

Vancouver painter Gordon Smith will give a course of four lectures Oct. 19 and 20. Titles and times will be "The Germ of a Painting," 10 a.m. the first day; "Painters I Admire," 2:30 p.m. that day; "Silkscreen Painting," 10 a.m. second day, and question period 2:30 p.m. that day.

Jan Zach of Victoria will speak on "The Importance of Color in Everyday Life," at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, and on "The Contemporary Idea of Sculpture" at the same time Oct. 31. Denys Sutton, English art critic travelling in Canada under auspices of the National Gallery, will discuss new developments in modern painting at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 6.

Further information may be obtained from the gallery at 43123.

All organizations and groups planning to use recreation facilities in Oak Bay during the winter season have been asked to get in touch with Oak Bay Recreation Commission as soon as possible.

Commission secretary is Mrs. E. J. Costain, 2607 Dunlevy Street. Before a schedule can be made for use of available facilities, all interested parties must apply.

The combined Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs here will act as "Lost to Sir Saville Garner, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, and Mrs. Garner, at an Empress Hotel luncheon Oct. 21.

Sir Saville will speak on "A High Commissioner's Job." He has also been deputy high commissioner to India.

Junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will make a field trip to Royal Oak today, leaving the Monterey Restaurant parking lot at 1:30 p.m. Members are expected to bring bus fares.

A collection of 31 paintings, drawings and prints—mostly by Eastern Canadian artists—given to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery, will go on display Oct. 22, it was announced yesterday.

The paintings, on extended loan to the gallery since 1955, were given outright by Mrs. Maud Brown of Ottawa, widow of the late Eric Brown, director of the National Gallery from 1910 to 1939.

Included are works of David Milne, Pegi Nicol, James Henderson, Kathleen Morris, Sir Wylie Grier, Lillian Torrance Newton and Sir Arnesby Brown.

B. E. Willoughby, past president of the Toronto Real Estate Board and Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards, will talk on "Salesmanship, Tight Money and Market Strength" at a meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board in the Empress Hotel at noon Wednesday.

So-Ed fall program at the YMCA will include discussions ficers and men returning from three months in the Arctic.

Despite overcast skies and light misty rain, 400 relatives and friends of the crew were waiting at the quayside to welcome their men home. They had been at sea for 109 days and had cruised about 19,000 miles.

A note of sadness pervaded the welcome around the famous, white-painted icebreaker with its White Ensign fluttering in the wind. The Labrador is about to end four years' association with the Royal Canadian Navy and the Arctic cruise was its last major voyage under that flag. Next spring will mark the end of the vessel's navy career when it is turned over to the department of transport.

Highlight of the voyage just completed was the historic charting of the Bellor Strait at the northernmost tip of the North American continent.

Capt. Thomas C. Pullen of Oakville, Ont., who commanded the Labrador, said the icebreaker's cruise had resulted in something of "immediate benefit to the people of Canada."

He said the ship's accomplishment in navigating the Bellor Strait and the charting of a new, safe channel into Frobisher Bay, was the high spot of its impressive naval career.

Capt. Pullen, who refused to comment on the transfer of the Labrador to the transport department, said the vessel would go to the shipyards in Saint John, N.B., for a refit before the navy turned it over.

The sailors, many of them sporting long beards, brought back some relics of the wreck of HMS Fury, which ran aground in the arctic more than 130 years ago. The relics will be placed in the maritime museum, atop the port city's Citadel Hill.

Pullen's distinguished brother, Atlantic Fleet commander Rear Admiral Hugh P. Pullen, was on board as the ship docked. Admiral Pullen joined the Labrador off the coast of Newfoundland earlier this week.

The ship's captain said that possibly the most significant task the icebreaker completed was the charting of the Resor-Pyke Strait into Frobisher Bay where a big international airport is being established.

Capt. Pullen said he hoped the "deep, straight channel" charted by the Labrador would be called "Labrador Passage."

Program for each week includes, in order, an hour of instruction in either dancing or art, an hour of discussions and an hour of music and games. Other topics will be "The Atomic Age," "There are no Christians Outside the Church" and "B.C.'s 100 Years."

Speakers will be Mrs. W. W. McGill, Dr. A. N. Beattie, Willard Ireland and Rev. Ibbes Avery.

Stings Kill 35

LONDON (Reuters)—Thirty-five deaths were caused in England and Wales during 1949-55 by stings from wasps and bees, the British Medical Journal reported Friday. Twenty-four of the victims had been stung by wasps, and nine by bees. The insects were not identified in the remaining two cases.

Marlon Brando Weds Indian Actress

MR. AND MRS. BRANDO

HOLLYWOOD—Actor Marlon Brando Friday married Anna Kashfi, 23-year-old Indian actress.

It was the first marriage for each and one that took Hollywood by surprise.

It was well known, however, that Brando, 33, and the beautiful actress from Darjeeling, India, had been dating much of each other in recent months.

KELOWNA — Dean Finlayson, B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, says he is concerned that the provincial government will abandon the Mica Creek power project in favor of the 4,000,000 horse power development proposed for the Peace River.

OTTAWA — The British Commonwealth can only be held together by "great effort" on the part of its members, Lester B. Pearson warned last night, but the effort will be more than worthwhile for "the protection of freedom and the promotion of human welfare."

LONDON — Princess Margaret got a new hair-do yesterday. It's the wispy fringe look which she wore so casually over the forehead. First reaction in London newspapers is critical.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti — Dr. Francois Duvalier, a 49-year-old physician, will be inaugurated Oct. 22 as Haiti's first elected president since Gen. Paul Magloire was ousted in December.

LONDON — Mrs. Beatrice Eden, first wife of Sir Anthony Eden, left an estate in England valued at £8,970. It was disclosed yesterday. The marriage took place in 1928.

Eden obtained a divorce in 1950 on the grounds of desertion.

NICOSIA, Cyprus — George Grivas, leader of the Greek Cypriot EOKA extremists, has prepared his forces for resumption of full-scale guerrilla activities, a government spokesman said yesterday.

NEW YORK — Gov. Averell Harriman predicts coinage of the word "Faubus." Harriman, a Democrat, said the word will be added to dictionaries to describe "an office-holder who has degraded the responsibilities of his office, and who has demagogically aroused the prejudices of the people for his own personal advantage."

SIoux FALLS, S.D. — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson escaped a barrage of eggs aimed at him Thursday by disgruntled farmers. Benson called the incident un-American. The eggs came as the secretary was being introduced by South Dakota Governor Joe Foss at the state mechanical corn-picking contest on a nearby farm.

VANCOUVER — Sandy De Santis, 48, one of Vancouver's best-known showmen, died here Thursday after a long illness. He formerly owned the Palomar Supper Club.

Keep Hoffa Out Teamsters' Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of New York Teamsters members Friday asked for a federal court order taking over the presidency of the giant, scandal-ridden labor union.

Lawyers for the group conferred twice with federal district Judge F. Dickinson Letts, but the court put off a ruling until Monday.

The lawyers said they also will go into the federal appeals court Monday seeking to have the Teamsters union cited for contempt of court.

Judge Letts two weeks ago issued a preliminary injunction against holding the Teamsters convention. The appeals court set this aside, but with the warning that the union should not go ahead with its convention if illegal delegates were seated.

The contempt proceeding would be on the argument that the convention was held with illegal delegates, in the face of the court warning.

Annette Married

Yvonne Dionne Ill

MONTREAL — Yvonne Dionne, 23, of the quintuplets, is in serious condition with flu and pulmonary complications. Yvonne, a nurse, missed yesterday's marriage of her sister, Annette, first of the quintuplets to wed.

Annette was married amid the whirl of movie cameras and the glare of flashbulbs.

Her marriage to Germain Allard, 24-year-old junior executive of a finance company, was to have been a simple, intimate, family affair in ultra-modern Notre-Dame-de-la-Salette Church in downtown Montreal.

While the ceremony was simple, the intimacy was shattered by a dozen uninvited photographers who managed to gain entrance to the church whose main doors had been locked almost two hours before the wedding.

At one point the photographers, who entered through a basement door were told they would be ejected if they did not stop wandering about the church.

The petite 23-year-old Annette said "oui" in a hesitant, hushed voice barely audible in some sections of the church.

There were 16 invited guests, including two of the four surviving quintuplets. The fifth quint, Emilie, died in 1954 during an epileptic seizure.

Cecile Dionne, who is to wed Philippe Langlois Nov. 23, sat with her fiancée, Marie, frailest and shortest of the quintuplets, sat immediately behind Cecile with a girl friend of Annette's.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne also were present.

After the ceremony and reception, the bride couple and the Dionne family visited Yvonne, in hospital. They took with them the top of the wedding cake, Annette's bridal bouquet and flowers from the reception table.

Later, the bride and groom left for their honeymoon in the Laurentian mountains.

Hydro Deal 'Staggering'

LONDON (CP) — The Manchester Guardian, commenting on the announcement of an agreement between Wenner-Gren and the government of British Columbia for a hydro-electric system in the northern Rockies, says the "immensity of the project is almost staggering."

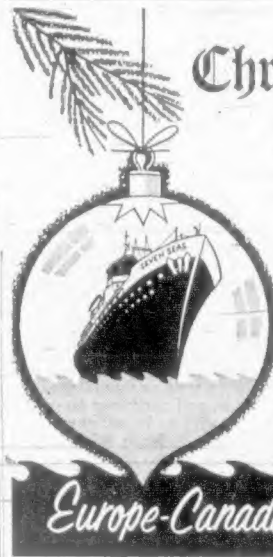

TEHERAN — Princess Shahnaz, lovely 17-year-old daughter of Shah Reza Pahlavi of Iran, was married yesterday in the royal marble palace to 25-year-old Ardshir Zahedi. Zahedi is the son of General Fazlollah Zahedi, former premier of Iran.

The Royal Visitors

OTTAWA is en fete this morning, awaiting with excitement the arrival around noon of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. The rest of the nation is alerted, also, for TV has been added to extensive press and radio coverage to enable Canadians to see as well as hear and read about the royal visitors. All over the land there is a keen expectation, for the young monarch has touched many hearts and there is a wealth of good will towards her. She has won affection as an individual as well as respect as a sovereign.

Victorians are denied the opportunity of showing their lead in person, although there is the promise of this two years hence. The Queen will speak to them, however, along with all other Canadians, in a special TV and radio broadcast on Sunday, and the historic opening of Parliament by her on Monday will also be shared by this means all across the country. Practically every minute of the four-day royal visit in Ottawa and district and, later, the sojourn in the United States of similar length, will be open to the public eye.

This reflects the natural and wide interest in the Queen and her consort. It imposes on Her Majesty a strain which although perhaps unavoidable will deepen the warmth of feeling for the Commonwealth's sovereign head. The role of a modern monarch is no light one. Happily the Queen is young, buoyant and dedicated to her life service; were this not so the burden of queenship would be too heavy for any woman to bear.

Her consort, Prince Philip, will be of equal attraction as they enter the Canadian capital for what should be a momentous visit. The Duke of Edinburgh is also scheduled to be heard by radio broadcast, on Tuesday, and like the Queen is assured of a wide listening audience. May they both be as thrilled and inspired by their Canadian visit as Canadians are by their presence, and may they leave on Wednesday next with as happy memories as assuredly they will leave behind.

No Conflict Here

WHATEVER doubts or opinions may be held on other aspects of the latest proposal to develop electric power in British Columbia's northern region, it is false to suggest that an agreement allowing the Wenner-Gren or any other interests to do the producing would mean selling the B.C. Power Commission down the river. Under the provisions of the Electric Power Act there should be no conflict between public ownership and private enterprise in this visionary project, because a private company—all other factors being satisfactory—would not be usurping territory statutorily belonging to the commission.

There is a great deal of misunderstanding about the status of hydro-electric power production in this province. British Columbia has public power, but not nationalized power. In the passage of the Power Act there never was any intention to nationalize power; nor to intrude in fields which were being or could be served by private companies.

The primary—virtually the only—purpose of the Electric Power Act which set up the B.C. Power Commission, was to bring cheap power within reach of rural areas where there was little hope of getting it otherwise. The commission, with money borrowed on the credit of the Province, was to supply power in the more remote regions impracticable or uneconomic for anyone else to enter, and has done so most successfully. Separate spheres of operation were set up, specifically barring the commission from competing in popular areas which could be served by private producers. The character of some regions of the province has changed since the act was passed 12 years ago, but the principle on which spheres of operation were divided has not. These terms may not always have been observed to the letter, but that has no bearing on the Peace River project.

Not by any stretch could the development of 4,000,000 horsepower in the uninhabited wilderness be interpreted as rural electrification and thus a prerogative of the commission. Whatever the dreams of an "industrial empire" in the Rocky Mountain Trench, it does not seem to be denied that this enormous new horsepower would be developed mainly for export to already industrialized areas far to the south, even to the United States. Related to the intention if not the precise wording of the Power Act, that does not appear to be a proper function of the commission.

Commonsense Stand

CONGRATULATIONS are in order to Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, medical officer of the Victoria-Esquimalt public health organization, on her commonsense stand in connection with colds and sniffles in community schools. Central Junior High School reported 140 students absent this week, the majority of them with colds, out of a school roster of approximately 1,000. Taken by itself such a report might be alarming; interpreted as Dr. Mahaffy has done it, the abstentions may be seen in the light of what happens in the fall of every year when cold nights succeed warm days and children play outdoors until dark.

Some of the students may have flu—"but not necessarily Asian flu"—Dr. Mahaffy concedes. Upwards of 900 other fellow students and all of their teachers, however, escaped the wave of sniffles. So the school won't close, and the education of the student body need not be interrupted. That is surely the intelligent stand. It is in sharp contrast with action at other centres on this continent where the first hint of sniffles has been taken as the advance of a wave of Asiatic flu. Children in the autumn usually get colds, as do adults; but there is nothing in this occurrence either unusual or emblematic of an epidemic of any kind.

All honor to a public health officer who has had the conviction and the firmness to say so. Probably Dr. Mahaffy understands children quite as well as some of the public health experts who seem to be trying to surrender to some form of imported epidemic before it has happened. In the present instance, with some 15,000 children enrolled at school, it would have been remarkable if numbers of them were not home with sniffles at the turning point of the year; some because they have colds, and others perhaps because of the latent but lingering attraction of holidays which have ended.

Interpreting the News:

Third Bundestag in for Test

By OMER ANDERSON
North American Newspaper Alliance

BERLIN — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will inaugurate in this Iron Curtain outpost on Oct. 15 a third, and very likely critical, phase of West German democratic development. The Bonn Republic's Third Bundestag (lower house) is convening here—110 miles behind the Iron Curtain—to demonstrate that it means business on German unity.

It is a symbolism which pleases West Berliners and heartens Communism's captive East Germans. This flaunting by Adenauer of his greatest electoral triumph literally in the teeth of the Russians makes West Germans feel less remorse over not being able to liberate their hungry kin in the "other Germany."

But most of the 519 newly elected deputies (including West Berlin's 22 non-voting representatives) sense that such political bravado is only the sideshow to decisive domestic political developments now to unfold.

When the first Bundestag convened in the Bonn "pumpkin" capital in 1949, Adenauer became chancellor by a single vote—his own.

The chancellor's Christian Democrats had 139 deputies. Kurt Schumacher's Social Democrats 131, and minority parties had the rest, including 15 Communists and several neo-Nazis.

In the second Bundestag, Adenauer's party had 243 deputies, the Social Democrats (now led by Erich Ollenhauer) 151, and minority parties the rest. The chancellor, in the first four years, staved off a repetition of Weimar Republic parliamentary anarchy and created the base for a two-party political system.

Last month's ballot put the chancellor in commanding control of the Third Bundestag with 270 of the 497 voting deputies.

The 1949 Bundestag was a typical continental-type, multi-party parliament. But the 1953 Bundestag functioned, through voting alliances, on the Anglo-American two-party pattern, with the chancellor in control and the Social Democrats in opposition.

Now Adenauer is taking charge of the Third Bundestag with such a huge majority as to threaten Germany with a one-party system on the Mexican pattern.

For this reason, the Social Democrats have been trumpeting that, while Adenauer buried them under a ballot landslide, the SPD nevertheless came out of the election with a third of the 497 deputies, sufficient to block amendment of the constitution with anti-democratic intent.

Many observers believe, however, that the "iron chancellor" will come to rue his mammoth victory. They take a positive view of its significance for German democratic development.

Looming economic and defence problems inevitably will produce dissent within Adenauer's party, which now for the first time must accept sole responsibility for the chancellor's policies.

The Bundestag

Gerald Waring

By FRANK KELLEY

THE September 24 number of The Bulletin, weekly survey sheet of German affairs issued at Bonn by the press and information office of the German federal government and received through courtesy of Paulin Travel Bureau, is devoted to results of the election for the Third German Bundestag, setting out the number of valid votes polled by the various parties, showing their relative strengths in the individual states represented. This ballot is incidental to the main feature of the issue, entitled "The Bundestag — Voice of the Entire Nation," written by Dr. Eugen Gerstenmaier, president of the Bundestag.

Stating he would not wish to go into the political aspects arising from the decision of Sept. 15, President Gerstenmaier announced the newly-elected Bundestag will convene in Berlin on Oct. 15. He felt the leaders of the political parties and parliamentary groups as well as their supporters are busy with their thoughts, but these will hardly be likely to find concise parliamentary expression before the government declaration of the newly-elected chancellor has been dealt with, intimating at the same time the selection of chancellor would fall on the former incumbent.

Great interest is being taken in what the government leaders will declare before the new Bundestag meets, many awaiting in suspense, believing that what has been looked upon as just will stand up in changing situations for programmatic principles in such a way as to keep them fruitful and effective, the motto being, "For good politics it is necessary to have not only a clear program with true insight, but also the ability to convert this insight into solid realities."

President Gerstenmaier also states the provisions of the constitution stipulate that the chancellor shall determine and be responsible for general policy, not only to his personal conscience but the entire German populace, who are ever present through representation in their highest legislature today, the Bundestag—so much so in fact they directly influence policy decisions. Seen from the president's chair, demarcations of the present house will be more clearly visible than heretofore, he implies. With fewer parties, less complicated will parliamentary proceedings become. All of which, he affirms, is true from an outside point of view; but from the inside it appears small parties could disappear and the two-party system, towards which there is an obvious trend, could function nicely.

At the same time the German leader asks, "Is complete agreement necessary always with two-party or multiple party systems?" Sometimes it is essential, he adds; but he believes a majority of members of a legislature should be united in a common persuasion beneficial to all representatives, if possible, for the general good.

Referring to something he had read in a foreign newspaper, he took exception to it. Quoting "West Germany is an economy in search of nationhood," he said: "This is a brilliant formulation; but is it true? I say it is not. The federal government is not an economic association, no matter how meritorious; for it is the task of the Bundestag—in the coming four years as in the past—to seek the right road for the entire nation. For this reason, too, it is more than a sum of representatives from the large and small political parties of West Germany. It is the voice of the nation."

Reports from Ottawa

OUR governments have so adapted themselves to having the sovereign an inconvenient 3,000 miles away that now, without changing many laws, it would be administratively inconvenient and even embarrassing to have the sovereign live in Canada.

The reason is that over the last 90 years successive Parliaments have whittled away at the powers of royal office, and have transferred them to the vice-regal office at Rideau Hall. Quite unintentionally we have made a demiking of the governor-general, so that he now has considerable legal authority that the Queen does not possess.

A great many statutes require some action or other by the governor-general. The opinion of government legal experts is that the sovereign has not the authority to perform any act that Parliament has said must be performed by the governor-general.

Attention was drawn to this anomaly when the government decided to hold a meeting of the cabinet committee of the Privy Council next Monday with the Queen presiding.

The meeting will be held for historical reasons—not because there is any work before the cabinet that demands the Queen's personal attention. Indeed, quite the opposite. When the Privy Council officers started to draw up an agenda of orders-in-council for the Queen to sign at this meeting, in many instances they found that the governor-general's signature was required, and that the Queen's wouldn't do.

And this in spite of the fact that the governor-general is only her personal representative during her absence from her Kingdom of Canada.

Laughter Is Infectious

By GREGORY CLARK

IN the restaurant at noon a man and three girls had the cubicle next to us. They looked like members of a bank staff. One of the girls had the infectious laugh you will hear only once in a year or two, the sort of laughter that literally changes the whole atmosphere around her.

They had hardly got seated before this laughter began, a chuckling, shaking, slightly hilarious sound. The other three with her chirped and giggled and guffawed in the more familiar forms of laughter. But rising above was this most seductive sound which in less than a minute had us all smiling and relaxed, turning our heads to cast smiling glances in her direction.

As a matter of fact, the lights in the restaurant seemed to grow brighter. There was a rather dingy greenery-gallery paint on the restaurant walls. And so help me, as the laughter continued, the paint took on a pleasant golden tone. In our cubicle, we were all grinning cheerfully at one another, and more than one of us remarked that we wished we were in on the joke, whatever it was.

Then I noticed that the people in adjoining cubicles and at tables some distance away were all smiling and laughing. Friends were looking at one another, with amused and happy faces. This girl, I said to my companions, is a sort of Pied Piper of a girl, who is putting a spell on us.

I caught the eye of a man grinning broadly at a table across from us. He gave a barely perceptible nod for me to look behind me. In a cubicle back of me sat a man and three middle-aged women. Four more sourpusses I never beheld. Their mouths were set in expressions of disapproval. Their eyes were cold with disaste. They eyed the cubicle from which sprang this fountain of happy sound with open repugnance. To them, laughter was an obscene, perhaps even a blasphemous sound.

A quick glance about me assured me that as many were smiling and laughing at the sourpusses as were infected by the happy girl.

There is little sympathy any more with the weebegone.

History Made

The Queen Of Canada

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

TODAY history will be made, for the first time the Queen of Canada will be in residence in the Kingdom of Canada. The symbolic march to nationhood has been completed.

In less than a century dependence has vanished. The constitutional lawyers may continue to argue the niceties of the status which has been reached under Queen Elizabeth. Canadians may feel that the designation "Dominion" implies a degree of inferiority, but the reality of the situation—legally supported by many eminent lawyers—is that since the coronation Canada has been a kingdom co-equal and independent, with the Queen of Canada on the throne.

The position may be compared with the time a 100 years ago when Vancouver Island and British Columbia shared the same governor who had to travel between New Westminster and Victoria in the same way that the Queen is travelling between London and Ottawa—the two capitals of her two kingdoms. In both places she is at home.

Some of us will regret that Queen Elizabeth's Canadian visit has been crowded with formalities, and hope that the time is not far away when the Queen will reside for a period in each of her kingdoms, and so get to know and be known with a degree of informality impossible upon short visits of state. One may be sure that no one would welcome it more than the Queen and her husband, who delight in informality and would welcome the outdoor life of the Canadian summer.

I recall the day when the Queen received the freedom of Windsor in the restored Guildhall of that ancient town. She referred to herself as a Windsor girl, recalled her childhood and the war years, and must have said a few words to every Windsor citizen present on that occasion. She admired especially a stained glass window containing the arms of the city of Windsor, Ontario, which had been given by the citizens of the Canadian city as a gesture of fellowship.

I have always had a strong suspicion that the Queen would have made a first-class journalist. She is naturally inquisitive and interested. What she does not know she finds out, and has acquired a remarkable store of knowledge. She is just as capable of doing her own running repairs to an automobile—learned during her wartime service with the ATS—as she is of carrying on an intelligent conversation on literature with a professor of English. It is not a pose, nor a rehearsed effect for a special occasion; and she never pretends to know something, but she is always ready to inquire.

It would be true to say that in many respects the Queen is inhibited. Regrettably it must be admitted that this is mainly due to those newspapers which regard everything the Queen says and does as public property. Her naturally keen sense of humor is frequently curbed by the thought of an eavesdropping reporter or the subsequent retelling of a remark by the person to whom it was addressed. Experience has been her taskmaster, with the result that she frequently appears to be much more serious than she really is.

Those who know her, even on formal occasions when the guests appreciate that courtesy demands silence on any comment made by the Queen, are well aware of her wit and sense of humor—but on less formal occasions she has to restrain herself for fear of finding a comment in the newspaper and not always in its proper context. Thus the sales girl who is asked after the Queen has been shopping what she said will say that she said very little. In the past when she has mentioned that she does like something or prefers something else it has made headlines, sometimes to the detriment of a manufacturer.

The informality of monarchy in Denmark, Norway and Sweden is something many people wish the Commonwealth would follow. In those countries the king may chat with a subject or a tourist on a street corner without an eyebrow being raised, or comment being made in the local press. There a sharp division is recognized between the monarchy on state occasions and the private life of the monarch.

We can be sure that both the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh would welcome such recognition in the Commonwealth and it would certainly make the Queen's life much easier. It would allow for the full development of a radiant personality and permit her the complete relaxation at present denied. Few people can appreciate the strain of a state visit—the striving for perfection, the anxiety of the constant spotlight, especially when it involves some completely new experience like her first appearance before the television cameras. The amazing thing is that on such occasions she can show such graciousness and charm when most mortals would be a nervous wreck.

At least we should be grateful that the Queen serves us so well. And of no person in public life is it more true to say that she is the slave of her people—a willing and devoted slave deserving of greater consideration than she frequently receives.

Letters to the Editor

Too Many Engineers

According to your front page dated Oct. 9, UBC Professor G. O. B. Davies states "The West needs more trained people than ever before."

The current issue of B.C. Professional Engineer carries a statement in connection with its placement service, that "the supply of engineers continues to exceed the demand."

Could all the ballyhoo about the alleged shortage of trained personnel have any connection with the demands for extensions to existing, and construction of additional, "halls of learning?"

During my 40 years as a qualified engineer I have only once seen the demand for engineers exceed the supply. That was for a short time in 1929, and we all know what happened immediately after.

If we are going to attempt to emulate Russia in the number of trained persons per thousand of population, then we will have to find some means for ensuring that the trained man can obtain employment, and at a salary commensurate with his achievements. An engineer with 25 or 30 years' experience is lucky if he is able to draw $100 a month more than a graduate with no experience.

Until "the West" can offer something better than the existing hit-or-miss system of employment, no youngster should be exposed to high pressure to become an engineer or scientist.

H. B. DICKENS, P.Eng.

Fullford Harbor, B.C.

Russia Vilified

I disagree sharply with statements in a letter to the press by Mr. C. Luff, who rushed to the defence of Dr. Peck when Tim Buck called him "a political illiterate" for saying that "there is no Marxism in Russia."

Mr. Luff amongst other things says that the Russians do not have socialism but instead have state capitalism (I am sure John Foster Dulles has no illusions on this score), that they are badly exploited and poorly paid, live on a bare subsistence diet, are persecuted and held down by armed force.

Statements of this character, and others equally incorrect, have been used for 40 years to vilify and discredit the Soviet Union. They were worked up into elaborate technique known as "the big lie" by Hitler and company.

It is a great pity that statements like these are made in the name of objective criticism. And equally deplorable is the fact that they not only endanger peaceful relations with the Soviet Union but also damage the interests of Canadian people, because propaganda of this sort blinds our eyes to what actually is taking place. I am happy to see that some of the more sober-minded journalists in the U.S.A. are now calling for an end to this practice and for a more realistic appraisal.

Overthrow of Manchus

Chinese Celebrate Dawn of Liberty

The Chinese community in Victoria Thursday marked quietly the 10th day of the 10th month of the year, the 46th anniversary of the birth by revolution of the Chinese Republic.

The Chinese-consul-general in Vancouver held a cocktail party, but no special celebrations were held here for what the Chinese community considers China's Independence Day. Chinese residents, however, marked the day at family gatherings.

A revolt led by Dr. Sun Yat Sen Oct. 10, 1911, overthrew the Manchu dynasty in a practically bloodless coup and the National Chinese Republic was formed. China now is a Communist nation, except for the Nationalist Chinese stronghold on the island of Formosa.

Drive Carefully on Holiday

Don't Finish Up A Dead Statistic

Don't become a highway statistic this holiday weekend.

This plea was made yesterday by provincial motor vehicle branch officials on the eve of the Thanksgiving Day holiday—a time when highways become more congested and deaths, injuries and grief result from traffic accidents.

Last year four B.C. residents died in crashes during the weekend.

"To predict lives lost this weekend is distasteful," an official said, "But whatever losses there are are unnecessary and preventable if drivers will only extend common courtesy to all with whom they share our highways."

He urged motorists to cut their speed, that they be sure to leave on the trips on time to avoid speeding, not to drive when fatigued and "above all to remember not to drink and drive."

"Let's all do our part and have a weekend free of highway tragedy," it was stated. "For some this will prove to be other than a joyous memory of Thanksgiving as a result of car accidents."

Provincial officials will draft new forestry legislation for the next session early next year as a result of the decision by cabinet as to which recommendations should be adopted and which dropped.

Poor Token Of Thanks

OTTAWA (BUP)—At least 30, and possibly 40, Canadians will die in traffic accidents over the three-day Thanksgiving weekend, the Canadian Highway Safety Council predicted yesterday.

Conference general manager W. Arch Bryce said that "forty funerals would be a mighty poor way to offer thanks."

morbidly indulge sorrow. Chronic grumblers destroy homes.

'I Am Fallen'

When Jeremy Taylor had lost all his possessions, his house robbed and property seized and his family turned into the streets, he wrote: "I am fallen... what now? Let me look about me. They have loving wife, and many friends to pity me and some to relieve me; and I can still discourse, and, unless, I list, they have not taken away my merry countenance and a good conscience... the promises of the gospel—And he that hath so many causes of joy, and so great, is very much in love with sorrow and peevishness who chooses to sit down upon his little handful of thorns."

looks for and finds the good. An ungrateful man is a worrier, an ungrateful woman a whiner. A thankful person has a peaceful heart and an appreciative mind.

Thanksgiving is the virtue of the brave. Thanksgiving Day was not founded by prosperous or even great folk, but by heroic men and women who had survived 63 days at sea in the tiny Mayflower.

followed by a winter of frightful suffering. These Puritan and spiritual ancestors of America placed by each plate five grains of corn so that their children would never forget and never despair. Similarly Martin Rinkart wrote the German Te Deum, "Now Thank We All Our God," when his city of Ellensburg was besieged in the "Thirty Years' War" and hideously suffering from disease and famine.

Life from God

Thanksgiving is the source of reverence. The life in body or grain comes from God and is miraculous altogether. All good things come from God. When success goes to the head it is because gratitude has gone out of the heart. "What hast thou that thou didst not receive?" Your abilities were given you. You were born into a certain society that others made for you. Opportunities have been placed in your path. Friends were sent to you. One bows in reverence and says, "What have I done to deserve so much?"

Only Answer

The only answer is that God has trusted you to use His gifts to bless men. Consequently, gratitude is at the root of social virtues. Gratitude creates a sense of stewardship, of responsibility. Thanksgiving is the heart people are selfish, egotistical fault-finders who make miserable critical companions. Marcus Aurelius, that great-souled, pure-minded Stoic, devotes the whole of the first book of his Meditations to an acknowledgement of all he owes to others. Some had great faults which he ignores, choosing instead the good in them.

Thanksgiving is the virtue of a gentleman. Politeness is nothing more than the appreciation of personality and values. A courteous and gracious manner results from respect for others.

The windows contain figures of St. Matthew, the warrior; St. Luke, the healer; and Christ Jesus. The chapel was opened last year.

"The Satellite, Will Russia Reach the Moon and Conquer the World?" will be the topic of a sermon by Pastor R. E. S. Toms at the evening service in the Evangelistic Temple, Blanchard and Queens.

The talk will be the first of

Unconditional Surrender

Reds Yield San Marino

REPUBLIC OF SAN MARINO (UPI)—The Communist Party—retreating in a red rage—turned over this hilltop republic to the "forces of violence" yesterday in an unconditional surrender to the Christian Democrats that ended a 10-day struggle for power.

The Communists surrendered in the face of an imminent march into the capital by nearly half of the 110-man police force of the Christian Democrats.

The Communists refused to play any future role in governing San Marino. But the negotiators stormed back to the republic promising an "invasion" of posters and painting denouncing the anti-Communist assumption of power.

San Marino is a tiny republic squeezed in on all sides by Italy.

The new anti-Communist gov. Prof. Federico Bigli, leader of the movement has received $500 from the new regime, said the money was sent by A. G. Cameron, a Canadian to "help you win was sent by A. G. Cameron, a lawyer at Trail, B.C.

Syria Lists Protests

Turkey Accused

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI)—Syria has formally accused Turkey of "unjustified provocative actions," including violations of Syrian air space, massing troops on the border, kidnapping of Syrian citizens and firing on border residents, it banon, King Saud of Saudi Arabia and President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon — both pro-Western — plan to call an Arab summit conference to try to settle the Syrian-Turkish crisis, according to informed sources.

The charges were contained in a formal protest note that underlined the gravity of the tension between Syria, a NATO member, and Turkey, a NATO member. The note was delivered to the Turkish government at Ankara.

The note charged that recent Turkish troop maneuvers on the common border increased "in a way that does not conform with the Turkish government that these concentrations are for ordinary manoeuvres carried out every year in the autumn."

The note warned that "these and other actions can only be described as unjustified provocative actions."

The Syrian government regards the Turkish activities as "interference in internal affairs not permitted by international laws," the note said. Meanwhile, in Beirut, Le.

Sooke Mill Destroyed By Flames

Fire of unknown origin Thursday night destroyed a small cedar shake mill at Saseenos despite the efforts of Sooke volunteer firemen who fought the blaze for two hours.

It was practice night for the firemen, all of whom were at the hall when the alarm came in. Although the 18-foot-square structure was levelled, firemen moved to safety about 1,500 bundles of shakes ready for shipment.

Owner of the mill is L. Wade of Jordan River, who could not be reached for comment yesterday. However, a spokesman said the mill was insured, and that Mr. Wade planned to rebuild on a nearby location.

Mill operations employed about six men—two in the mill and four in the woods.

Dr. Styles plans to start a program in November to help and rehabilitate the alcoholic.

Thanksgiving services will be held in many city churches today.

At St. David's By The Sea Anglican Church, Cordova Bay, Canon Frederic Pike, former priest of St. Luke's Church, will conduct the harvest, thanksgiving service at 11 a.m.

Canon Pike founded the parish of St. David's about 10 years ago.

Some churches will be decorated with fruit and vegetables and sheaves of grain.

The history of the Christian church from the Protestant viewpoint will be outlined by Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James during a sermon entitled "Fire Upon the Earth" at the evening service in Metropolitan United a series of "prophetic lectures" based on the Bible, Mr. Toms said.

Members of St. Aidan's United Church will conduct a "friendship evangelism program" tomorrow afternoon, visiting adherents of the United Church in the north Mount Tolmie area in their homes.

Slogan of the program is "Each one reach one for Christ."

First United Church will hold a social hour in Fellowship Hall at the close of the evening service for those who consider British Columbia to be their "home" province.

Dr. Hal Styles of Reseda, Calif., lecturer; healer and clairvoyant, will conduct services in the Open Door Spiritualist Church, 1600 Cook, at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. He also speaks at 8 p.m. today.

Failure to Follow Safety Rules Brings $50 Fine in Fatality

Fine of $50 was imposed on Albert G. E. Speed, 2621 Doncaster, by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court, for failing to comply with safety regulations of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Mr. Speed was foreman in charge of construction of an addition to the Hudson's Bay Company store last March 26 when 46-year-old Richard Aspinall of Langford fell through a hole to the floor below, suffering fatal injuries.

It was the magistrate's opinion that safety measures previously taken were removed before work had progressed to a point where it was safe to do so.

Thomas A. Rennie, 3278 Wicklow, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving, and was fined $250. He was remanded one week for consideration of a licence suspension.

Police said Rennie was stopped Thursday at 10:25 p.m. when he narrowly missed a traffic island while turning from Douglas into Market St.

Oct. 17 was set in court yesterday for trial of David Thomas and Wilfred Black, no fixed address, charged jointly with robbery with violence.

Both had pleaded not guilty when accused of beating Daniel McIsaac, 76, of 482 Foster, and robbing him of $50, behind a building at 834 Johnson.

In Colwood police court yesterday a Colwood juvenile was fined $25 and $35.50 costs for failing to carry his motor vehicle registration in his car.

Haunts Casey Again

Baseball Heading West

New York Mourns Blackest Day

NEW YORK — New York City mourned the blackest day in its sports history yesterday while the rest of the nation hailed it as a year in which the National League went west and took the New York Yankees' scalp with it.

"A great thing for baseball," said commissioner Ford Frick, after the Milwaukee Braves' dramatic come-from-behind victory over the Yankees in the fifth game of the World Series.

But to New York, the Yankees' defeat was the final blow—the third strike—in a year when the Giants elected to go to San Francisco and the Dodgers quit Brooklyn for Los Angeles.

The "big city" was confident that the Yankees could preserve a measure of its pride but even that was stripped away Thursday in the face of Lew Burdette's amazing mastery over the club that dealt him off as an expendable farmhand in 1951. The Braves' World Series victory means that baseball's story definitely has gone west. The two franchise shifts started the trend and the Yankees' defeat was the clincher as the eastern monopoly on World Series triumphs finally was broken.

For not since 1948, when the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Braves, has a world championship of baseball sided in the midwest. Since '48, the Yankees had won six world titles and the Dodgers and Giants one each. In all but one of those years (1954 when the Giants routed the Indians in four games), the World Series had been nothing more than an annual spectacle to be seen in New York.

That golden era of New York baseball history officially ended with the Braves' triumph because it is fairly obvious that the Braves are the coming dynasty in the National League. And it seems equally obvious that the great Yankee dynasty itself is in peril—for only once in the last four years have the Yankees worn the purple mantle they came to believe was their personal property.

The reason baseball men believe the Braves have supplanted the Dodgers as the class of the National League are twofold:

They are a young club—the team on the field against the Yankees averaged only 26.4 years—and their farm system is one of the most valuable and productive in the game today and rivals any of recent years.

Several of the Braves' farmhands have the ability to play major league ball right now, but whether they can break the lineup remains to be seen.

Among the outstanding prospects are a pair of right-handed pitchers, Carleton Willey (21-6) and Joe Jay (17-10), both of Wichita of the American Association, and bonus infielder Mel Roach, who is being groomed as Red Schoendienst's successor at second base. There are a host of others.

But the Yankees simply cannot be written off. They are still odds-on favorites to win the American League and get a shot at the Braves in 1958, despite their latest series performance.

Second guesses were there, of course. What happened to Stengel's supposed magic touch? Should Whitey Ford have pitched the fourth game for the Yankees in a bid to take a 3-1 game lead? Tom

What of the Yankees now? General manager George Weiss was expected to swing the axe with a vengeance in an effort to revamp the club during the winter months. There was also the thought that Stengel will share the blame.

Insiders point out that Stengel's reputation as an all-victorious $100,000-a-year manager has definitely been hurt by the fact that the Yankees have won only one world championship in the last four years. No one seriously believes that Stengel is in danger of being replaced next year, but another failure could do it, and Ralph Houk of Denver and Ed Lopat of Richmond are waiting in the wings to take over.

Weiss, who deals off "dead wood" even when he wins, undoubtedly will deal off players he regards as expendable. These include Joe Collins, Gerry Coleman, Andy Carey, Harry Simpson, Enos Slaughter, Don Larsen, Tommy Byrne, Art Ditmar and, perhaps, Johnny Kucks.

The Denver farm team is loaded with potential Yankees, including left fielder Norm Siebern (.349), first baseman Marv Thornberry (.40 home runs), and Ryne Duren, a former Kansas City pitcher who went to Denver in the big swap.

Still, the handwriting is on the wall for all to see. Frank Lane, general manager of St. Louis Cardinals, puts it this way:

"This was the year to beat the Braves. Next year, they'll be unstoppable."

Mawhinney Takes Lead in B.C. Open; Mounties Receive Only 'Token' Penalty

Veteran Vancouver golfer Bill Mawhinney fired a one-under par 69 Friday to grab a one-stroke lead in the opening round of the two-day B.C. Open tournament at Vancouver while two Victoria shotmakers fell far off the pace.

Mawhinney, an old hand at winning provincial tournaments, goes into today's final 18 holes with a one-stroke edge over professional Lyle Crawford and amateur Gordon Mackenzie, and is a heavy favorite to take the $1,500 first money.

The two Victoria professionals entered in the tournament both finished in the high 70s. Colwood's Bill Court had 39-38—77 while Bob Fleming shot a 39-40—79.

Defending champion Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, a six-time winner of the event, finished well behind with a 75.

Vancouver Mounties, who successfully stalled their Sunday baseball trial during the regular season, were convicted yesterday of playing professional baseball illegally on Sunday at though receiving only a "token" penalty.

Magistrate N. J. Bartman, showing some regret in finding the club guilty, fined the Mounties $50 on each of three charges laid four months ago under the Lord's Day Act. The two club officials were fined a minimum $1 apiece.

Rhodes Elliott, Vancouver city solicitor, said Vancouver Council could go back to the B.C. legislature and make an other request for a city charter amendment to permit Sunday sport. However, the provincial government's stiff opposition to commercial Sunday sports was not expected to be swayed by the small penalty assessed against the Mounties.

In 1953 a plebiscite on legalized Sunday sport was passed by a 2,000-vote majority. Bitter opposition came from the Lord's Day Alliance and the provincial government rejected Vancouver council's efforts to have its charter amended.

NEARS RECORD: Fullback Johnny Bright of Edmonton Eskimos is only 263 yards short of the Western Interprovincial Football Union rushing record of 1,440 yards set last year by teammate Normie Kwong. The former Drake University star, who has averaged about 107 yards per game in nine games, needs only to average 52.4 yards in his remaining five games to set a new mark.

The touring Russian hockey team will play seven games in Eastern Canada, starting Nov. 22 in Toronto when they take on the Allan Cup champion Whistler Dunlops. Isaac Logari gave Joe McNeil a thorough beating last night for a unanimous decision in their nationally televised 10-round welterweight bout in Detroit.

Marcel Ronin, who spurned a contract with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League earlier this week and left for his Quebec home, returned unannounced yesterday and signed his new contract.

Kansas City Athletics yesterday announced that Harry Craft has been rehired as manager for the 1958 season. Whistler Dunlops defeated St. Catharines Teepees, 8-7, last night in an exhibition hockey game at St. Catharines.

Boston Red Sox yesterday announced the purchase of right-hander Garry Blaylock from Rochester of the International League.

Medal Series Start Sunday

Bill McColl, winner of the spring monthly medal series, will head a strong field Sunday when the Victoria District Golf Commission begins the winter version of the popular competition at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

Draw follows:
10:00—J. Merriman, W. McColl, R. Morrison, L. Kerr
10:45—C. Cuth, V. Painter, A. Donaldson, G. Pettibon
11:30—J. Smith, B. Clark, E. Schlegel, J. McColl
12:15—T. Harris, E. Donaldson, J. Carney, J. Evans
1:00—J. Briggs, C. Higgins, E. Beauchemin, O. Jull
1:45—R. Chappell, D. McLean, D. Dalziel, M. Carlson
2:30—T. Garnet, S. G. Evans, H. Fletcher
3:15—N. Daidzel, A. MacLeod, M. Ellis
4:00—W. Court, M. Bartlow, L. Lindsay
Limited post entries will be accepted.

Canadian Grid Teams Face Crucial Weekend

Thanksgiving weekend, traditionally a big one for football fans, offers eight games in the senior leagues and in both the Western Interprovincial Football League and the Big Four Football Union all of them will have a bearing on battles for playoff spots.

Matthews Dropped; Era Ends?

LONDON (AP) — The end of an era—that's the way British sports writers describe the dropping of 42-year-old star winger Stanley Matthews, from England's international soccer team.

Into Matthews' place for the match against Wales on Oct. 19 steps 23-year-old Bryan Douglas, who models his play in the style of the old master. Many critics think that Matthews, of the soft shoe shuffle and bewildering body swerve, has played his last game for England. He turned out in his first international match in 1934 and since then has played for his country 84 times.

Calgary Stampede, who need two wins to clinch third place and a playoff berth in the WIFU, have perhaps the roughest schedule, playing the league-leading Edmonton Eskimos at Edmonton today and at Calgary Monday afternoon.

B.C. Lions, who have to win at least four of their remaining five games to keep their slim playoff hopes alive, meet the second-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers—already assured of a spot in the playoffs—in Winnipeg this afternoon, then play Saskatchewan Roughriders Monday afternoon at Regina.

However, there is a ray of hope for the Stamps. They are in top physical condition, while the Eskis have eight players out with flu and several more sidelined with various injuries.

PLAYERS AILING
Down with the flu yesterday were backs Mike Lashuk, Normie Kwong, Don Simon, Ken Hall and Steve Bendick, middle guard Frank Morris, centre Kurt Burris and tackle Roger Nelson. Halfback Earl Lindley will miss at least one game with a shoulder injury and defensive tackle Art Walker and end Bill Walker are also out.

After a siege of injuries, Bombers will have all but full-back Bob Davenport of their original backfield available. Ready for action are quarterback Kenny Ploen, Leo Lewis, Gerry James, Bob McNamara, Buddy Leake and Charlie Shepard, who replaces Davenport.

Lions appear to have their backfield set but may be short of linemen, with Ken Arkell, Gordie Mitchell and Mike Cassin on the sidelines.

The Riders, having their worst season in years, still have the longest injury list in Canadian football. Among the recent additions are end Charlie Hatch, halfback Ken Carpenter and end Dick Herbertson.

In the east, Montreal Alouettes, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders are tied for first place and all clinch for playoff berths. But the race is still interesting, because the team that finishes first gets a bye into the final while the other two battle it out in the series.

Today, the Riders host Montreal and Hamilton is at home to the suddenly-dangerous Toronto Argonauts. On Monday, the Riders play the Alis at Montreal and the Tiger-Cats play the Argos at Toronto.

Big Cash Prize Awaits Bowlers At Albany Meet

By JIM TAYLOR

If any of Victoria's tenpin bowlers think they're good enough or lucky enough, there's money to be made at Albany, Oregon, Feb. 15-June 28.

Some 1,500 five-member teams will take home more than $100,000 in cash at the eighth annual All-Coast Tenpin Tournament at the Albany Lanes. Biggest tournament west of Chicago and the third largest in the United States, the tournament attracted 1,200 bowlers last year and passed out $82,000 cash.

The tournament draws bowlers from 13 western states, Canada, Hawaii and Alaska, and is actually five tournaments in one, with three events for men and two for ladies.

Men will compete in the 170-average and over handicap, the under-170 average handicap, and the scratch division. Women will play in the 145-and-over and under-145 bracket. Separate cash prizes are offered for each division.

Entries may be made to Toye Lindblad, 435 S. Bradley Street, Albany, Oregon.

Jack Hobby rolled the top tenpin triple for the week in Greater Victoria, a 583 series with a 202 single in the Gibson's Bowladrome senior league. Norm Gamble was right behind him in that league with 589 (213), followed by Cee Dixon, 578 (201); WH Smith, 564 (208); C. Marks, 561; Gordie Bamford, 558 (211); Wally Noonan, 556 (214); George Motion, 555; Roy Beggs, 553 (204); and A. Quinn, 553.

Wilbur Webb, 559 (236); Gil Wong, 551 (212); Ken Munn, 550 (213), and R. Okell, 550, led the commercial league at Gibson's, and Tess Kamoun topped the ladies' league with 500.

Bill Holness checked in with a 572 (240) series to lead the mixed league, while Marg Beane rolled 564 (216) and Dot Bennett, 568.

Bob Bystedt was tops at Strathcona Bowling Alleys again this week with 580 (213) in the senior league, but it was a lean week as far as the rest of the tenpinners were concerned. WH Smith, 568, and Cee Dixon, 546, were the best of the others in the senior league, and Harry Jackson paced the commercial league with 539.

Victoria Junior Kingpin Fivepin Club hosts Vancouver Commodore all-stars at Gibson's Bowladrome tonight at 7 and tomorrow at 1. For the first time in the six years the teams have met, Victoria is trailing and must make up 167 points in the two matches.

The fivepinners were still hitting with better-than-average results during the week. Highest score on the alleys was rolled at Equilmart Bowladrome, where Harry Cool paced a great team effort with an 822 (316) series.

Cool, his brother Bill, Bill McKinnon, Harold Gent and Bud Marty registered a scratch team total of 1,460.

Other high scorers at Equilmart were Bob McLeod, 795; Harold Gent, 782; Rowie Butler, 780; John Middlemass, 779; J. Watt, 776; Neil Craig, 762; Frank Morgan, 763 (326); Bill McKinnon, 759; Frank Fenn, 751; Bill McKay, 729 (323); Emile Liska, 727; Mark Cunningham, 726; Sandy Mitchell, 722 (363); Alec Pylpa, 713, and Reg Waggoner, 710.

At Capital City Bowladrome, Harry Smith scored 820 with a 329 single to lead the fivepinners. Jim Edwards, 769; Marge Berry, 747; Bill Peterson, 745; J. Goldsmith, 731; Dave Lamb, 710, and Lyle Gordon, 704 (322) rolled the other notable series.

At Gibson's, the commercial league still provided almost all of the fivepin news.

C. McKee posted the top score, an 828 series with a 336 single. He was followed by Harry Smith with an 801 (340); Reg Waggoner, 765; Howie Butler, 770; Cy Waters, 767; Bill McKinnon, 766; Roy Vater, 763; Harold Quissey, 764; Bud Brock, 751; Bill Olegers, 749; T. Hawkins, 730; R. Bird, 724; Sheldon Nipp, 704; R. Jago, 703, and B. Bird, 702.

D. Davidson, 764; R. Haine, 760, and E. McLean led the financial league.

Brilliant Oak Bay High Splasher Sets Unofficial Canadian Record

Bob Wheaton set an unofficial Canadian junior backstroke record at the Crystal Garden last night as Oak Bay High School staged its annual Inter-House Swimming Gala.

Wheaton, swimming for House I, churned through the water to cover the 50 yards in 27.6 seconds. The recognized Canadian record is 28.1 seconds, held by Ted Simpson of Vancouver.

Indications were last night that Wheaton's mark will be submitted for official recognition.

House II successfully defended its inter-house title, but the issue wasn't settled until the last of the 19 events was completed. The House II senior boys placed first in the 200-yard relay to collect the 10 points that kept the title in their house.

House II finished the meet with 83 points, followed by House I with 78 points and House III with 46.

Oak Bay's entry in the Inter-House Swimming gala next Friday at Crystal Garden will be picked from last night's entrants. The Oak Bay team will also travel to Vancouver this month to defend its B.C. championship.

Coho Division Lead Changes; Meek Tops with 19.8 Pounder

There is a new leader in the coho division of the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest.

Monty Meek of Ripple Rock took over the lead Tuesday when he caught a 19.8-pound eight-ounce coho off Campbell River, Meek, a Colonist subscriber, took the fish on a Wallace Highlander plug.

Previous leader was H. Lifton, 1640 Christmas Street, Victoria, who topped the crest-winner for the month of September with an 18-pound coho.

If Meek's entry can hold the top spot in the contest until closing date October 15, he stands to win the King Fisherman Coho Trophy and a three-horsepower Viking outboard motor, donated by the T. Eaton Company.

WALKER COOPER

Two of baseball's oldest active players, 42-year-old catcher Walker Cooper and Murray Dickson, still pitching at 41, have been given their unconditional release by the St. Louis Cardinals, who finished second to the world champion Milwaukee Braves this season. Cardinals general manager Frank Lane said the two veterans were being dropped to make room for more young players on the St. Louis roster.

Views Differ Widely on Suit; 'Might Mean the End'—Smythe

Players' and owners' views on a $3,000,000 suit against the National Hockey League hit opposite extremes Friday.

Doug Harvey, first vice-president of the NHL Players' Association, said the players had "no other recourse."

Toronto Maple Leafs' seven-man hockey committee, said the action "might mean the end of the NHL."

The suit was filed in New York Oct. 9 by Milton N. Mound, counsel for the association, and asked $3,000,000 damages and voiding of the standard players' contract.

Meanwhile, the league prepared to go about business as usual. A full schedule of games is listed for tonight with Boston Bruins making their regular season debut at home against Chicago Black Hawks; New York playing at Montreal and Toronto hosting Detroit.

The suit alleges the defendants have monopolized professional hockey since 1926, violating the United States Sherman Anti-trust Act.

Harvey, an all-star defence-would be a party of any such thing. If they are and if that looks as though "it is going to be an exhausting affair—in time, resources and patience."

Campbell said in Detroit it is their feeling it might mean the end of the NHL.

Smythe said he doubted that the majority of players agreed with the action.

PROVIDENCE (AP)—Providence Reds made it two straight victories in the American Hockey League campaign by defeating Buffalo Blues 5-3 Friday night at Stan Belisle, 20-year-old rookie, made an impressive pro debut with a pair of goals.

The Blues, held scoreless in the first two periods, struck for three goals within 75 seconds of the last period. Ken Wharram scored two and assisted on the third, scored by Dick Gamble.

Jim Bedard opened the scoring for Providence in the second period. Belisle's two goals followed in the same period.

In the third, Zello Toppanzini made it 4-0 for Providence, and Marv Sweeney added the final marker before Buffalo broke loose.

Coho Awards Announced

Lifton Gets Some Consolation; Leads September Crest Winners

H. C. Lifton, 1640 Christmas, lost his first-place rating in the coho division of the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest, but if he needs any consolation, he did top the coho crest-winners for the month of September.

Lifton's 18-pounder led the contest until Thursday night, when Monty Meek of Ripple Rock weighed in a 19-pound, eight-ounce coho at Campbell River.

A total of 26 fishermen won crests for September and the smallest coho on the list weighed in 13 pounds, 12 ounces. Herring strip, Strip-Tearer and the Lucky Louie plug proved the most popular lures.

Oak Bay Boat House weighed in six of the winners, Bates Beach Boat House, five; Juan de Fuca Auto Court, four; Halfway Taxi, two, and French Creek Fishing Camp, The Alders, Oyster Bay Resort, Little River Fishing Camp, Golden Anchor Resort Port Boat House, Gordon's Sporting Goods, Anchorage Boat House and the Pender Bay Cafe, one each.

He'll Be a Busy Yeoman

By JACK VAN DUSEN

OTTAWA (CPI)—Earl Stong will be kept hopping during the visit here of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The 35-year-old Royal Canadian Navy petty officer has to see that wherever the Queen appears she is greeted by the unfurling of her personal flag.

As chief yeoman of signals, CPO Stong must be on hand for major functions.

During the royal visit, when the Queen goes from one function to another in rapid succession, the flag expert has to "break" the red-blue-gold royal standard at the first place, "close" it when she leaves, and dash to the next function in time to unfurl the flag again when the Queen appears.

He has a team of six other yeomen—usually two at the first point, two more at the next, and two with himself "just in case of an emergency."

NOT MUCH TIME
The veteran of 17 years' service in the navy, who says he's "never come across anything like this before," will break out the flag—three feet by six feet in size—at Uplands airport when the Queen arrives and at major functions throughout her stay.

Sunday will be his hardest day, when the Queen lays a wreath at the National War Memorial and minutes later attends services at Christ Church Cathedral.

The signalman will be on hand for the unfurling of the royal flag at the memorial, stay until the Queen leaves, then dash the five blocks to the rathedral to repeat the performance as the royal couple arrives there.

CPO Stong served ashore on the east coast and at sea in the minesweeper Minas, the destroyer Ottawa, and the corvette Baddeck during the Second World War.

Since then he has served on the frigate Swansea, the cruiser Quebec and the destroyer escort Haida.

DORIS DAY
... the game to see

Don't Miss This!

BY BRUCE LOWTHER

To paraphrase the title song, "The Pajama Game," which opened at the Royal Theatre yesterday, is the game to see. It's the best musical of the year.

The movie version of labor trouble in the Sleepytime factory, where a crisis develops when the tops are 15 minutes behind one song was dropped on the way from Broadway, the "Time and Eddie Foy, Jr." and so is much of a fault.

All the other fine songs are there, sung wonderfully well by Doris Day and three Broadway

Hooray for Eisenhower!

Pray for Eisenhower!

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said last night that President Eisenhower earned the thanks of "millions who saw the fate of the American dream—trembling in the balance" at the Little Rock school integration crisis.

Wilkins, speaking at a state NAACP convention, declined to predict the effect of the Little Rock situation on Negro voting.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Segregationist Baptist ministers prayed last night for divine guidance for President Eisenhower who, one of them said, "ordered armed troops into Little Rock and then went back to the golf course as if nothing had happened."

He is Rev. E. T. Burgess, one of four ministers who publicly besought divine aid for the removal of federal troops from the city and, indirectly, for the removal of Negro students from Central High School.

Appointment Instead

Only Two Turn Out For School Election

Only two taxpayers in the Offer Point area turned up at a meeting last night to elect an area representative for the Sooke school district board of representatives.

As a result the election was not held and it is expected the department of education will make an appointment to fill the vacancy.

Annual meetings to elect representatives will be held at Moxes Landing School Tuesday, at Jordan River Oct. 21, at Shirley Community Hall Oct. 21 and Port Renfrew Oct. 25. All meetings start at 8 p.m.

An election at large replaced the annual school meetings in the Albert Head-Metchosin, Colwood, Happy Valley and Langford attendance areas.

Nominations for representatives for these areas must be filed with the Sooke school board offices by Nov. 21 at 2 p.m. and election will be held Nov. 30.

Boundary for the election at large areas is the Twin Creek Farm on Sooke Road.

'I Couldn't Afford It'

NANAIMO—"I could fine you $500 on this charge," Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts told Ronald Boudot in police court yesterday. "But I couldn't afford it..." Boudot replied.

"You are going to have to afford $50, anyway," said the magistrate.

Boudot was accused of abetting a minor to drive without a licence. He himself had had his licence suspended.

Drains Taken Over

NORTH COWICHAN Rate payers of the Somenos drainage area have agreed to empower a three-man board of trustees to hand over all assets and debts of the drainage district to the municipality of North Cowichan.

Cmdr. G. S. Windover of Somenos Lake Farm declaring that 60 farmers had been "paying the shot for half the countryside" said "never have so few paid so much for so many."

Trustee G. W. Whitaker speaking for School District 65 said that the drainage district had undoubtedly benefitted the areas on which the Cowichan High School and new elementary school stood and he would hate to see the work abandoned.

Arsonist Optimist No Saint

NANAIMO—Juvenile court judge Lionel Beevor-Potts warned a 16-year-old boy to "keep out of further trouble" when he again remanded him in custody at Bannan Lake School to await sentence.

The boy had previously pleaded guilty to an arson charge in juvenile court here. "I don't expect you to be a saint," said the judge, "but watch your step."

The boy attempted to burn the school down on that he would be sent home.

Nanaimo to Get Gas Within Year

NANAIMO (CP)—Work will begin Tuesday on Vancouver Island Gas Company's line extension. Dr. Larry Giovando, company president, said Friday. About 150,000 feet will be laid bringing this company's total in the area to 250,000 feet. Dr. Giovando said that within a year gas service should be available anywhere in the city limits and adjoining Harewood.

Waterfront Scheme Sparks Legal Fight

CAMPBELL RIVER—The provincial government will not be party to anything which is for the time being, South Island. Bothwick, assistant superintendent of lands, said last night.

Mr. Bothwick presided over an all-day and night hearing on a $200,000 waterfront development scheme here.

His comment came after an afternoon of heated argumenting by Vancouver lawyer T. G. Norris as to the financial standing of the Campbell River development Ltd. and its president, W. S. Mullett. The firm is seeking a grant of crown lands on the Campbell River foreshore.

NO RETURNS FILED

Mr. Norris who appeared for the village commission, disclosed that the development company had not filed any annual returns with the registrar of companies.

Mr. Mullett said most companies are 90 to 100 days in arrears to which Mr. Norris replied, "You never have filed any returns for the past two years."

Continuously over the development scheme, Mullett argued a waterfront development in the area of the waterfront, from the waterfront to the waterfront, which would be a waterfront development. Mullett argued that the waterfront development would be a waterfront development. Mullett argued that the waterfront development would be a waterfront development.

MLA'S ONE-MAN PROBE

The provincial government, since it was first ordered the inquiry after the death of a man, had a personal probe into the scheme.

Centennial Apathy 'Disgusts' Indian

VANCOUVER (CP)—A tribal festival and regatta is being planned by Vancouver Island Indians to mark B.C.'s centennial.

Elwood Modeste, Cowichan Indian chief, said here he was "disgusted" by the lack of interest in the centennial shown by many Indians.

Modeste, on his way east to meet the Queen, said he and his 10-man tribal council are seeking the views of other Island Indians for a festival at Cowichan Bay.

Tory Leads Socreds

Taken Over and Taken In

WINNIPEG (CPE) — A Some what nominated Social Credit party set about to restore its tattered trade vestments when the dumber who hypochondriacally to prove the power of "positive thinking" and fill the tears run down his cheeks.

It all started when Dr. How and McGill of Winkler, Man. and Winnipeg accepted a wage a few weeks ago. The big wage McGill and some conservative 36 days and 30 nights to raise over the provincial Sacred or Rationation.

In less than half that time he had established an evolutionary "successive" becoming chairman of the parties or organization committee forming a new social credit group after quelling the first pass and finally making a bid for two Conservative nominations.

Which would generally be acknowledged as a "brilliant but brilliant political move" except that McGill had no claim to being a politician.

His career began to a low when he arrived at a low where there was a personal experience of the party's organization pay and had nothing to do with his personal organization pay.

I let them down the garden path," he said, and I thought about the meaning the tears can have my eyes.

As a politician, I had a $100,000,000

At the start of the book McGill won the confidence of the and executive when he had a letter from national party leader Simon Low in which Low admitted weakness in party organization and welcomed my assistance McGill said.

In Ottawa yesterday Simon Low described Dr. McGill's political day as "dispirate."

Sputnik to Have Company

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first U.S. satellite in orbit may have company very soon, to be up next March.

A U.S. state department spokesman said today the department would not say whether the first U.S. satellite was a prototype or a final design.

If the Russians are right, the first U.S. satellite will be launched at the Max Planck Institute at Bonn, Germany, in the next few days.

The first U.S. satellite is expected to be launched in the next few days.

Inside Sputnik

Drawing of Russia's earth satellite was taken from a Soviet magazine. It shows a cross-section of the interior of the sphere that the Russians call Sputnik.

Curious? Just Call Moscow

MANCHESTER (AP) — The Manchester Guardian today says it has received from the Soviet government a list of questions to be asked of the Royal Observatory at Greenwich.

The Guardian says the questions were sent to the observatory on the day the satellite was launched.

It says the Russian satellite is a "small satellite" and that it is "not a probe" but a "satellite" in the ordinary sense of the word.

"If the information comes it will be of considerable importance," the Guardian says.

"Until now British satellites have been sent to the Soviet Union where they are used for a variety of purposes, including the study of the atmosphere and the study of the Earth's magnetic field."

"Attempts to track the satellite by radar have been unsuccessful, but the satellite is expected to be in orbit for some time."

The newspaper says the satellite is a "small satellite" and that it is "not a probe" but a "satellite" in the ordinary sense of the word.

Russia Unethical Says U.S. Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. John P. Hagen, chief of the U.S. satellite program, accused the Russians of unethical behavior today.

Hagen said that the Russians had used a "small satellite" to study the Earth's magnetic field, which is a violation of the terms of the agreement between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

Cranberry-Peach Mold Piece de Resistance

Since Thanksgiving is such an essentially family affair—more so, one has said, than Christmas or New Year which may be spent with friends—there'll be lots of reunions with relatives all across the country. In consequence the following rhyme sent to me unfortunately by an anonymous source, may amuse you and yours as much as it did me. It certainly is timely.

MY FAMILY TREE

My sister's daughter is my Niece
Her uncle is my Brother
And his grandfather's son's wife
Happens to be my Mother
My mother's sister is my Aunt
And her son is my Cousin
That's a kind of relative,
That I have by the dozen
My cousin's father is my Uncle
His brother is my Father
I wonder if a family tree
Is really worth the bother

Wow! Well if you've got nothing better to do over the weekend you can work it out for yourself. It's quite beyond my mental capabilities.

Now let's be serious. Take a look at our illustration and possibly you will consider making it as the piece de resistance for your Thanksgiving dinner table. Come to think of it, it would be equally suitable as a light main course for a salad luncheon supper, after or before the heavy meal is over. Any way here's the recipe.

CRANBERRY-PEACH RING MOLD

Four cups cranberries, 2 cups water, 2 cups sugar, 2 table spoons plain gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water.
Combine cranberries, water and sugar. Cook about 10 minutes or until all the berries pop. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot cranberries. Pour into oiled 8 inch ring mold.

and chill in refrigerator overnight. Unmold cranberry ring and fill centre with pickled peach halves.

I know quite a number of our readers picked their own peaches recently. But for those who didn't here's a quick and simple way to pickle just sufficient for this particular recipe.

PICKLED PEACHES

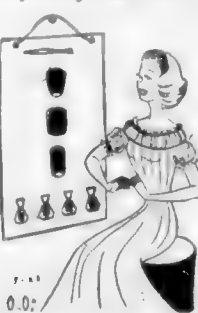

One tin cling peach halves size No. 2 1/2, 1/2 cup brown sugar packed, 1/2 cup vinegar, 2 1/2 inch sticks cinnamon, 1 tea spoon whole cloves, 1 tea spoon whole allspice.

Drain peach slumps into sauce pan. Add sugar, vinegar and spices and boil 5 minutes. Add peaches and simmer 5 minutes. Let fruit chill in pickling syrup overnight. As already said, fill the cranberry ring with these peaches.

Doubtless you have decided by now what you are going to have on the way of vegetables. Colorful squash in one form or another always seems a "must." And what would you think of smallish onions, cooked whole and served in a cream sauce to which masses of finely chopped parsley has been added.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

PRETTIER NAILS. The oval nail is considered the prettiest. For tapering and delicate it lends a fragile feminine air to the hand. But don't fret should you lack the asset. An irregular shaping can be ovalized by clever nail polish applications and in a way that will never be noticed. Here's how.

If nails are spatulate, avoid painting moons and corners, give finish lines at corners an outward curve. Treat stubby nails by covering with polish, except for a slim margin at either side. On an angular, oblong nail leave tips and moons plain free.

Ironing Board on the Way Out

NEW YORK (UP)—The no ironing is possible through the built-in qualities of the fabrics plus new methods of garment construction, trends have happened in mens and such designed to take the heat. It is expected that by spring heating a machine gives them and summer 1958 there will be 17 mens wear manufacturers offering no iron apparel that more than two million.

From a variety of textile authorities comes word that wash and wear is a reality for many outsons and synthetic fabrics. This means no ironing not even that touch up we've been used to giving the wash and wear in the last few years.

Here is what the textile people promise.

The Dupont Co. which makes often dacron nylon and other synthetics, demonstrated automatic wash and wear for a whole group of women's fashions scheduled to appear in the fall stores early next year.

The agriculture department said its researchers have developed "truly wash and wear" cottons.

A century-old shirt manufacturing firm said ironing of shirts will be a "lost art" in 10 years.

A spokesman for Dan River Mills said wash and wear will be a "permanent thing in five years."

The Du Pont Co. yesterday ushered in a "whole new era" in women's fashions, with tailored suits, dresses and sportswear coming from home washer and tumble dryer has it freshly pressed. The company said

Tandem Bicycle Beats Vitamins

LONDON (WNS)—Mrs. Maude Stiles, 74, has a hobby she rates way above vitamin pills in combating old age.

Her prescription is bicycle riding—on a tandem with husband Ernest, 71.

Together these two residents of the London suburb of Acton have just completed an eight-day, 250-mile bike tour of Scotland's rugged Highlands.

"We had a good time and really enjoyed it," healthy-looking Mrs. Stiles says.

"Tired? I've never felt so fit in all my life. I never felt tired at all on the whole tour."

Mrs. Stiles adds: "We passed a lot of people about our age who looked at us wistfully—wishing they could still do it."

Mr. and Mrs. Stiles, ardent cyclists for many years, were accompanied by their son, Frank, on his own bike. Frank, 35, somehow managed to keep up with Mom and Pop, too.

Mr. and Mrs. McCook-Weir Married at St. Luke's

Baskets of golden yellow chrysanthemums decorated St. Luke's Church this afternoon for the wedding of Florence Edith Geraldine daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andrew Raymond Dawson and John Tudor McCook-Weir, Vancouver son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Alexander McCook-Weir, Clippendham, Wiltshire, England. Rev. T. D. B. Draper officiated and the service of white pure silk, styled with panels, the bride entered the church at her father's arm. A train of bridesmaids of pearls and diamonds held her short chapel veil and she carried an ivory parasol. Bridesmaids wore a short, elegant yellow dress.

Music of the hour, Mrs. M. E. Price, was at a decorated organ. The organist played a hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," which was followed by a hymn of yellow chrysanthemums.

Most of the hour, Miss Wendy Dawson, sister of the bride, wore a similar gown in coral tulle and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

For the wedding, the bride was followed by her father, Mr. Carl Dawson, and her mother, Mrs. Carl Dawson, who were seated in the front of the church.

The new Mrs. McCook-Weir is a pianist and will be giving a recital at the Victoria Conservatory of Music on Nov. 15. She is also a member of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

Space Secret of Youth?

By ROBERT MUSEL

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI)—You say goodbye to your twin brother and go off in a space ship for a trip to the stars. When you return home you find you are years younger than the twin you left behind.

This is another incredible possibility for the world of the future opened by man's break-through into space. Out there in the immensities of intergalactic time there is a real fountain of youth.

SPACE-TIME PARADOX
Delegates to the Eighth International Congress of Astronautics have been talking and arguing about this "space-time paradox" involved in Einstein's theory of relativity.

Some of them, a minority, contend that biology being what it is, people age at the same speed wherever they are.

Today one of the "brains" of the U.S. army ballistic missile agency told the congress about his ionic propulsion system for interplanetary travel and was applauded for his research in the engine which is expected by many to take over from chemical rockets.

SHIP TO MARS
Dr. Ernst Stuhlinger of Huntsville, Ala., had estimated that his engine would take a space ship to Mars in 400 days. But one of the world's leading thermo-dynamicists, Dr. Jakob Ackert of Zurich, said new refinements expected shortly would cut this mark considerably.

Stuhlinger made a new calculation and said when these became possible his engine would make the trip to Mars in 250 days—about the same as a chemical rocket but with a greater payload.

After someone had mentioned the grisly possibility of a space ship blowing up and people and parts orbiting eerily around the earth, Stuhlinger said he expected the ship to Mars to be made by a convoy of about 10 ships carrying smaller powered plastic bubbles as "space taxis" for transferring passengers from a damaged ship.

Because Stuhlinger's engine is designed for vast distances he was asked later about the "space-time" debate.

"People who understand it believe it," he said.

"We have powered it with particles of cosmic rays called mesons. We can make these particles on earth in our machines but they do not have as long a life as those that come from space at very high speed.

"This longer life, you see, is simply a function of the speed of the cosmic rays."

Before you cancel that appointment for a face lift and rush out for a space lift that fountain of youth may remain as unattainable as the one Ponce de Leon sought. It requires, said Stuhlinger, fantastic speeds over long periods of time of a degree at present outside our capabilities.

Purchase of House Discussed by Saanich

Possibility of buying an old house and property near the Saanich municipal hall was discussed by the municipal hall committee Thursday night.

Use of the house to provide temporary office space for the municipal staff is one of several alternatives being studied. Committee chairman G. L.

Chatterton said investigation of costs of building temporary offices showed that 3,000 square feet would cost about $30,000.

An alternative to buy property for a new municipal yard, build temporary offices and yard offices and storage was abandoned.

The committee agreed that investigation of the temporary space possibilities would probably end after one more meeting. Then a recommendation would be given to council.

The parks committee recommended that an offer to sell the Killarney Lake property to the municipality for $35,000 be turned down. The offer was made by A. H. Getton of Quilley Beach.

Scholarship Awards To Be Made to 45

Scholarship awards will be made to some 45 students at Victoria College Friday.

The scholarships were won in April exams at the college and winners announced during the summer holidays.

Dr. F. M. Salter, professor of English at the University of Alberta, will speak on the topic "This Bank and Shoal of Time" at the ceremony.

A new award to be made during the annual assembly is the Rosalind W. Young scholarship, presented by the University Women's Club to the leading woman student in the College of Education.

Mrs. Young, who taught at Victoria College when it first opened, is the wife of former minister of education Henry Esson Young. She will be present at the assembly.

Several College graduates now attending UBC will return to receive their prizes. Other awards go to students still attending the college.

The ceremony will start at 8 p.m.

Annual forest fire destruction in Saskatchewan has been reduced from a 1937 high of 2,195,000 acres to a recent average of 400,000 acres.

Information for Bus Passengers

Holiday schedules will be in effect on all city bus routes on Thanksgiving Day, October 14.

Buttle Lake Slides Shown

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston Thursday night showed color slides of the timber-clearing and power site construction at Buttle Lake to a public meeting of the Saanich Social Credit Constituency Association.

He told the meeting, at the Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall, that the slides disproved claims of improper timber clearance and proved the lake would be increased in value as a pleasure area and park site.

Members of the government and civic affairs committee state that City Clerk Frank Hunter has agreed to investigate the possibility of dispersing the polling facilities.

The committee also announced that it may extend its election forum plans into the municipal field this year by conducting candidates' meetings in Oak Bay and Esquimalt as well as Victoria.

Grounded Tanker Refloated

VANCOUVER (CP)—A rising tide refloated the tanker Standard Service early yesterday from the shore of Burrard Inlet.

It went aground Thursday night while attempting to dock at the Standard Oil Company refinery.

The grounding tore a hole in the bow of the vessel and opened one of her tanks, spilling gasoline and kerosene over Vancouver Harbor waters.

Harbor officials said the situation was still dangerous along the waterfront and boat operators and passengers of passenger steamships and ferries were warned to take all precautions against fire.

It was hoped that the outgoing tide would carry much of the highly volatile gasoline out of the harbor.
